ARCHIE MANNING, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR:

Leadership, dedication and commitment have enabled Archie Manning to succeed both on and off the football field. Archie oversees every aspect of the Manning Passing Academy and makes all the audibles when it comes to teaching and coaching. Manning's background is truly reflective of the ideals and dedication necessary to compete on the football field.

Currently Archie serves as Chairman of the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame and is an active member of the Allstate Sugar Bowl Championship Committee.

In the NFL

Archie was the 2nd player selected in the 1971 NFL draft and went on to a brilliant 14-year career that included stints with the New Orleans Saints, Houston Oilers, and Minnesota Vikings. As the New Orleans Saints field general, Archie was named league MVP in '78 and was twice selected to the Pro Bowl. He is a member of the New Orleans Saints Hall of Fame and its Ring of Honor.

As a Collegiate

He is considered one of the greatest players ever to wear a Rebel uniform. He was the recipient of the Walter Camp Award and was selected to the All-American, All-SEC and All-South teams. Archie was the SEC Player of the Year in 1969. And in 1989, he was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame. He is also an inductee in the Ole Miss, Sugar Bowl and Gator Bowl Halls of Fame.

As a Community Leader

Archie has supported numerous non-profits and charities over the years in both Louisiana and Mississippi while continuing to assist those who share his love for the game of football. He has been recognized across the nation for his character, integrity and leadership on and off the field.

In 2019, Archie was honored with the Football Bowl Associations Champions Award. He was also recognized as the 2018 Walter Camp Football Foundation Distinguished American Award recipient, the Southeastern Conference Legend's 2018 Mike Slive Distinguished Service Award recipient and proudly awarded the National World War II Museum's American Spirit Medallion (Past recipients of this award include former President George H.W. Bush, Tom Brokaw and Gen. Colin Powell).

Other honors include the prestigious Gold Medal Award (2016) from the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, the eighth recipient in 2013 of the NFL's prestigious "Pat Summerall Award" and in 2004 honored as the recipient of the Davey O'Brien Legends Award.

In the Community

A portion of the Manning Passing Academy proceeds is donated to Special Olympics Louisiana and Bridge House/Grace House New Orleans. Archie and Peyton have written a book entitled "Manning: A Father, His Sons and A Football Legacy" and also have a national quarterback award named after the family – the Manning Award, hosted by the Sugar Bowl Committee, in honor of Archie, Peyton and Eli. This award is the only national quarterback award that considers the candidate's postseason play.

For almost four decades, the Manning family and the quarterback position have been practically synonymous with one another. As such, their summer vacations always revolve around the annual Manning Passing Academy, a family-owned and managed football camp that embraces the basic fundamentals of football while catering to the offensive skill positions of RB, TE, WR...and of course QB.

Archie and his wife Olivia (a former Homecoming Queen at Ole Miss) reside in New Orleans and are the proud grandparents of nine grandchildren of Cooper, Peyton and Eli.

COOPER MANNING, SENIOR ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR:

One of the most popular staff members among the campers, he is never too busy to lend instruction or a helping hand. He is always the first to arrive at camp and the last to leave. He prides himself on his ability to entertain campers after practice as he hosts a live Q&A session with all the college players on staff.

He remains the most handsome Manning and has no plans of losing that title.

In The Booth

Coop's experience in high school, college, and professional sports has made him a natural fit for the broadcast booth and he has hosted and/or co-hosted numerous projects over the years, including both television and radio shows during football season on WWL in New Orleans. In April, Cooper landed a new media gig and debuted his weekly sports podcast called "Soup with Coop", as part of The Volume, a sports podcast network. During the NFL season, Cooper hosts "The Manning Hour (Minus 58 Minutes)" on FOX Sports NFL Sunday.

In 2021, Cooper joined Peyton in NBC's reboot of the iconic "College Bowl" this summer. The quiz show pits teams from different universities against one another in a battle of the brains. Two-time Super Bowl Champ Peyton serves as the game show's host and Cooper as the sideline reporter.

As a Collegiate

He was heavily recruited by Division I schools out of high school including Texas, Virginia, and Ole Miss before deciding to attend his father's alma mater (Ole Miss) on a football scholarship. A career-ending injury forced the Rebel wide receiver to the sidelines, but his love for the game has never diminished.

In High School

Cooper was a two-time All-State wide receiver at Isidore Newman School in New Orleans and played in the Louisiana High School All-Star Game as well as participating on two state championship basketball teams.

In the Community

He is active with the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, The Academy of Sacred Heart and his alma mater Isidore Newman School.

He is currently a Principal at AJ Capital Partners, a vertically integrated real estate development and investment firm. As the Senior Managing Director, Cooper focuses on business development and investor relations. In 2014, A.J. Capital launched the Graduate Hotels brand, a hand-crafted collection of hotels in university-anchored markets across the country and currently have 32 locations across the United States.

A University of Mississippi graduate, he resides in New Orleans with his wife and sons Arch and Heid and daughter May.

PEYTON MANNING, SENIOR ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR:

Continues to influence the game since retiring from the NFL after a stellar 18-year NFL career, which included two Super Bowl victories and MVP honors, plus five NFL MVP acknowledgments and a first-time ballot selection and enshrinement into the Pro Football Hall of Fame. Peyton has taken that same preparation and game day approach to his post retirement as he balances his time with family, community, philanthropy, guiding young football players about the game and taking on new projects that keep him on the cutting edge of the sports industry. In 2020, Peyton founded Omaha Productions, a production company that produces scripted and unscripted programming. He continues to find success hosting award-winning sports programming and digital streaming with Peyton's Places, a football themed documentary series on ESPN+ and also teaming with his brother, Cooper, on the iconic "College Bowl" series. The quiz show pits teams from different universities against one another in a battle of the brains. He changed how we watch sporting events when he hosted, along with his brother Eli, ESPN's Monday Night Football with Peyton & Eli also known as "The Manning Cast". For his new approach to watching MNF, after its first season, the show was nominated and won a 2022 Sports Emmy Award.

In the NFL

Regarded as one of the best quarterbacks to have ever played the game, Peyton set many NFL major career records, led two different teams to Super Bowl victories and is the only five-time NFL MVP selection. A historic milestone was achieved when he was enshrined as a first-ballot selection, along with the Class of 2021, into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, OH.

Peyton climaxed his NFL record-setting career, leading the Denver Broncos to a win in Super Bowl 50. But it all started for Peyton being selected with the first overall pick in the 1998 NFL Draft by the Indianapolis Colts, and he quickly made his presence known, setting five different NFL rookie records, including most TDs in a season and was named to the NFL All-Rookie First Team. In 2020 he was named to the NFL's 100 All Time Team.

In his career, Peyton was selected the 2001, 2004 and 2005 Walter Payton/Indianapolis Colts NFL Man-of-the-Year for his participation in community affairs and in 2005, received the Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year. He was also the recipient of the 2015 Bart Starr Award.

As a Colt

During his first 14 NFL seasons with the Colts, Peyton set team records in nearly every career passing category, started 16 regular season games for 13 consecutive seasons and was selected as Super Bowl MVP in the Colts win over the Chicago Bears in Super Bowl XLI.

He completed more passes and threw for more yards and touchdowns in a career-opening 13-year span than any NFL player in history. In the process, he has torched all the NFL, AFC, and Colts record books, won back-to-back MVP honors for the second time in his career (2003-04 and 2008-09) and in 2009, was listed by the Sporting News as the No. 1 player in the NFL. The Colts, in 2017, honored his career and the organization's success by retiring his No. 16 jersey and unveiling a statue of him in front of Lucas Stadium.

As a Bronco

In 2012, Peyton took over as QB of the Denver Broncos and didn't miss a beat after recovering from neck surgery in 2011. He led Denver to an AFC best 13-3 record and was recognized by the Associated Press as the 2012 NFL Comeback Player of the Year and was also named to his 12th Pro Bowl selection. He ranked second among starting quarterbacks with a passer rating of 105.8, third in TDs with 37 and accumulated 4,659 passing yards. He set Bronco's single-season passing records in nearly every major passing category.

In 2013, Peyton enjoyed one of his greatest seasons in his career, earning his fifth MVP award and making his third trip to the Super Bowl while setting NFL single-season records in passing yards, touchdown passes, and quarterback rating. He was selected both the 2013 Associated Press Offensive Player of the Year and FedEx Air Player of the Year and set Broncos single-season passing records and career-highs in completions, yards and TD passes.

Continuing his record setting pace 2014, his 18th and final season in the NFL, he led the Broncos to a Super Bowl victory, his second Super Bowl MVP selection and became the NFL's all-time touchdown leader with 530 TD's. He was also selected to his 14th Pro Bowl.

As a Collegiate

Peyton was inducted into the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame Class of 2017. A Consensus All-American selection in 1997 and an All-American selection in 1996 (3rd team), Peyton was a four-year starter for the Volunteers. He finished his collegiate career holding 42 NCAA, SEC and Tennessee records and led his team to the SEC Championship his senior year.

Peyton is also a three-time Academic All-America honoree and a GTE Academic All-America 1st Team. In 1997, he won the Campbell Trophy for performance, academics, and community service as well as the Maxwell Award as the nation's most outstanding player. He also won the Sullivan Award for the nation's top amateur athlete, the Davey O'Brien Award for Top QB, Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award for top senior. In 2005, the Volunteers honored Peyton and retired his No. 16 jersey.

In High School

He attended Isidore Newman High School in New Orleans and was an All-American, All-State and All-District pick at QB. He was selected as the Gatorade Circle of Champions National Player of the Year.

In the Community

Manning's "PeyBack Foundation" provides leadership and growth opportunities for children at risk. Other avenues of the PeyBack Foundation include the Peyton Manning Children's Hospital at St. Vincent, UT Scholarship Program and the Scholastic Book Club, to name a few.

Along with his induction into the Pro Football and College Football halls of fame, he's been inducted into the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame, Tennessee Sports Hall of Fame and the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame. He also received the Lincoln Medal.

Peyton and his wife Ashley are the proud parents of twins, daughter, Mosley and son, Marshall.

ELI MANNING, SENIOR ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR:

From being the first pick in the 2004 NFL Draft to his retirement from the league on Jan. 22, 2020, Eli set the bar for quarterbacks in his 16 years as a pro. His resume includes being a two-time Super Bowl champion and two-time game MVP, a Walter Peyton Man of the Year selection, and is considered the most accomplished quarterback in New York Giants history. He also was an iron man in the league at one point with a streak of 210 consecutive starts.

Eli is still in the game, as he hosts Eli's Places, a college football documentary series streaming on ESPN+ and also serves as a co-host with Peyton on the 2022 Sports Emmy awarded ESPN's "Monday Night Football with Peyton and Eli" or Manning Cast. He was honored by the NY Giants and Ole Miss Rebels with his Jersey retirement. In May, Eli was inducted into the Cotton Bowl Classic Hall of Fame Class of 2023 and in July, he will be a member of the 2023 Class being inducted into the Louisiana Sports Hall of Fame.

In the NFL

In September 2021, Eli was honored by the Giants organization with a jersey retirement and Ring of Honor induction ceremony. Eli finished his NFL career in the Top 10 of these offensive categories: Completions, Pass Attempts, Passing Yards and Passing Touchdowns. His 234 career starts currently ranks him 4th most starts by a quarterback at a single franchise. From his first start on Nov. 21, 2004, Eli began a streak of 210 consecutive regular season starts and ended his career with 234 starts.

Eli won two Super Bowls and earned two Super Bowl MVP honors. He is only one of five players to have multiple Super Bowl MVP awards. In 2008, Eli led the Giants to victory in Super Bowl XLII and was named MVP (a year after Peyton won MVP). In 2012, Eli staked his claim among the premiere NFL passers when he led the Giants to their second Super Bowl title and also claimed his second Super Bowl MVP award in Super Bowl XLVI. He joins Phil Simms and Otis Anderson as the only Giants who have won the MVP award and is the only Giants quarterback to win it twice.

He is also the Giant's all-time leading passer and owns six all-time Giants passing records. Eli is the first Giants quarterback to throw for more than 3,000 yards in 14 consecutive seasons, the first to have seven 4,000-yard seasons and the first to throw at least 20 touchdown passes 8 years in a row. He also tossed 20 or more touchdowns in 13 seasons as a starter.

In 2011, Eli threw for a career-high 4,933 yards and threw for at least 3,000 yards as a starter in 14 of his 16 seasons as a pro.

A four-time Pro Bowl selection, Eli has also been recognized by the NFL for his work on and off the field.

In 2016, Eli received the prestigious Walter Peyton Man of the Year Award, presented annually by the NFL honoring a player's volunteer and charity work, as well as excellence on the field.

He was recently awarded the Bart Starr Award (2020), given to an NFL player who best exemplifies outstanding character and leadership in the home, on the field, and in the community.

As a Collegiate

Eli set or tied 45 single game, season and career records at Ole Miss. The University of Mississippi honored Eli by retiring his No. 10 jersey during halftime at the Ole Miss vs. LSU game on October 23, 2021.

In his senior year, Eli led the Rebels to a 10-3 record and a 31-28 SBC Cotton Bowl victory over the Oklahoma State Cowboys in 2003. He also won the Maxwell Award, given to the nation's top collegiate player; the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award, given to the nation's top senior quarterback; and the Walter Camp Foundation Player of the Year Award.

Eli was the SEC Player of the Year and earned the Conerly Trophy as the top collegiate player in the state of Mississippi.

In High School

He attended Isidore Newman High School in his home town of New Orleans and was an All-American, All-State and All-District pick at QB.

In the Community

He championed the construction of "The Eli Manning Children's Clinics" at the UM Hospital for Children raising $2.5 million and has hosted the "Guiding Eyes For The Blind Golf Classic", the oldest and largest charity event in Westchester County, NY. He has also served as chairman of the annual Walk for Babies, a flagship event for the March of Dimes.

In 2005, Eli joined his brother Peyton by volunteering in the wake of Hurricane Katrina and together they assisted in the delivery of 30,000 pounds of water, Gatorade, baby formula, diapers, and pillows to the people of New Orleans.

Eli and his wife Abby are the proud parents of three daughters, Ava, Lucy and Caroline and one son, Charles "Charlie" Elisha.

Thibodaux Regional Sports Medicine Center is the official hospital and sports medicine provider of the Manning Passing Academy. Athletic trainers are present at all on-field events, and are on 24-hour call for the duration of camp to manage medical issues. Sports Medicine Trained Orthopedists and Primary Care Physicians are also available if additional care is needed.

In the event of a medical emergency, Thibodaux Regional's close proximity to the camp allows for quick response and expedited treatment. Heat illness is of primary concern in southeast Louisiana. The Sports Medicine Center staff is well trained in recognizing the signs and symptoms of such conditions. Hydration is a top priority in an effort to keep campers well and performing at their best.

The Athletic Trainer may be contacted during day time hours at 985.493.4502 for medical issues that arise.

MPA 27TH ANNIVERSARY

The Manning Passing Academy is owned and operated by the first family of football; Archie, Cooper, Peyton and Eli Manning... and is an integral part of their lives. The Manning's are always the first to arrive and the last to leave. The concept of this camp sprang from the concern that even the most basic fundamental skills of throwing and catching a football were lacking during a youngster's developmental years (grades 8 - 12). It was this concern that motivated the Manning's to bring together some of the most successful and brightest coaches and players from the professional, college, and high school ranks each summer in Louisiana. And although the Manning name has been practically synonymous with the quarterback position for almost 60 years ... it's not just for QBs.

EQUIPMENT

This is a non-contact football camp and therefore NO football equipment is required, but there are minimal needs. Campers should bring both grass-cleated shoes and a pair of sneakers in case of inclement weather. Although Nike is providing a football to all campers this year, all campers are encouraged to bring their own football that fits their hand. And make sure you print your name on the ball. They all look alike. Mouthpieces are always recommended and encouraged. All campers should bring a minimum of a three-times-daily change of socks, shorts and T-shirts. Our sponsors will provide each camper gifts that include a gym bag, two T-shirts, a pair of shorts, a key lanyard, a water bottle, and more.

DIRECTIONS TO NSU

CAMP DIRECTOR BUDDY TEEVENS: ADJUST & IMPROVISE

Longtime MPA Camp Director Buddy Teevens was in a serious accident several months ago and is currently recuperating from his injuries. As such he will be unable to attend in person this year but he is still directing our operation remotely through his executive staff who are also longtime members of the camp.

Buddy is the winningest head coach in the history of Dartmouth College Football and his motto is "ADJUST & IMPROVISE." And there is no doubt in our minds that he will be back next year ready to lead the MPA into our 28th year of operation.

In the meantime we will all keep Buddy in our thoughts as we adjust and improvise.

- ARCHIE MANNING
